Dear FCC:

I feel that this is an unfair fee to impose, since there are so many cell phone users that the fees you already charge must be resulting in hundreds of thousands of dollars every month and must be increasing every month due to the overwhelming amount of cell phone users. I am one of the very low volume cell phone users who only relies on the service for emergency use, and feel that if more fees are imposed that they should be based on interstate usage volume, just like our regular land line phone service does.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,
